

THE INDESTRUCTIBLES

R/T: 12 x 30'

YOP: 2015

Commissioning Broadcaster: Dave, UKTV

Production Company: Factory Media

Delivery Date: Available for Immediate Delivery

EPISODIC BREAKDOWN

Episode 1 - Bouncing Bombs

Given a massive zip-line and an inflatable Zorb Tim & Gendle dream up the hair brained idea of trying to bounce a man across a lake and into a target dambusters style. With just 3 days to pull it off they'll need to work out how to safely attach the Zorb and realise it into the water at speed without killing the stunt man inside. Easy, errr not exactly...

Episode 2 - Downhill Rickshaw

So how about we take one of the best trials mountain bikers on the planet, take him to a massive bike park...and then see if he can survive the run riding a rusty rickshaw.

That's the crazy challenge Tim & Gendle set pro rider Chris Akrigg

Will Chris be able to handle the demands of the track? Will Tim & Gendle be brave enough to ride in the back? There's only one way to find out...

Episode 3 - Parkour Apocalypse

Have you ever wanted to be in a zombie movie? Tim & Gendle have and now they've suckered in a crack stunt team and the crew from "storm parkour" to show us their skills and help turn an abandoned building into the location for a massive zombie chase.

Will the team survive their own thriller? There's only one way to find out...

Episode 4 - No Snow - No Problem

In this episode, we take the concept of MULTI-TERRAIN board sports and push them to their absolute limits. How big can you go on a set of retro grass skies? What's the most insane thing you can do on a dry slope? From high speed slaloms on grass to an attempt at the world's very first dry ski loop the loop, it will be an epic thrill ride all the way down.

Episode 5 - Human Hole In One

You know what would make golf more exciting? if we replaced "Balls" with "people" and the grass with water. Tim & Gendle gather a wild crew of action sport athletes tries to launch them down our human sized driving range/lake. All in search for that elusive "Human hole in one" Will they succeed in their madcap scheme? Will our riders even survive?? There's only one way to find out...

Episode 6 - Human Marble Run

Human Marble Run - Dropped into a downhill bike park, Tim & Gendle want to create a human 'marble run', where motorcycle riders are enclosed in zorbs. With the team decrying the insanity, Tim & Gendle are determined to create carnage - as long as they can find riders crazy enough to accept the challenge. With 3 days on the clock and £1000 in their pockets, it can only be marble mayhem.

Episode 7 - Abandoned BMX

This week we want to go big on a BMX. Back flips, rail rides, massive ramps and bomb drops are the name of the game, as Tim and Gendle are given just three days and a 'grand to turn this week's location, a derelict factory, into BMX bike heaven. With the clock ticking, it will be down to Joe and the build team to construct the ultimate BMX set-up suitable for our star athlete.

Episode 8 - Will It Skim

In this episode, we take the concept of MULTI-TERRAIN board sports and push them to their absolute limits. How big can you go on a set of retro grass skies? What's the most insane thing you can do on a dry slope? From high speed slaloms on grass to an attempt at the world's very first dry ski loop the loop, it will be an epic thrill ride all the way down.

Episode 9 - Drifters

Drift trike racing strikes the perfect blend between science and thrilling action. In this episode, Tim & Gendle are given an epic downhill location and 3 days to pull off a spectacular festival of drift. From highly tuned drift cars, to modified drift trikes and a few DIY drift inventions courtesy of Joe, we go in search of the ultimate drift experience using nothing more than an empty road and our dear friend gravity. With speeds of up to 50 mph and just inches away from the tarmac, it's going to test the skill and guts of our drivers to make it down in one piece.

Episode 10 - DIY Daredevils

This week, the producers have given Tim & Gendle two wheelie bins full of junk and just three days to create a spectacular moment with a pro athlete. Tim's bin is full of broken bike and skate parts, Gendle has nothing more than cardboard and gaffer tape. With no time to waste, it's off the workshop to get creating as Tim sets out to build a DIY BMX and Gendle wants to go big on a terrifying white water rapid.

Episode 11 - Will It Surf

The Ancient Hawaiians first invented surfing around 3000 years ago, making it by far the oldest of all the Action Sports. So, after generations in the making, you'd think that we'd pretty much cracked the perfect surfboard. In this episode, we give Tim & Gendle 3 days and £1000 to find out in a spectacular game of "Will it Surf?" Who knows, we may even come up with a next level surfboard to add to the Hawaiians history book.

Episode 12 - The Best of the Best

This episode will be presented from the Workshop, with Tim & Gendle looking back over the series. We'll revisit the very best moments from our 11 stunts, the biggest wins, the biggest loses, and all the bits you didn't see first time around.